

Elves

Concept

Set in a world of fairy tales, the animated series “Elves” follows the adventures of Wise, Strong, Joker, Tummy, Matt , Twig and Baby. Together they try to preserve the enchanted forest and maintain order in Alegrus kingdom, ruled by friendly, but insecure king Orlando I and the young and fearless princess Jasmine. His main enemy is the evil King Maldo, wizard and leader of the ogres who, disguised as Count Naldus, the king’s counselor, tries at all costs to take the throne of Alegrus and destroy the forest. But for that, he needs to find the legendary Golden Pot, source of all magical power of the Elves, hidden at the rainbow’s end.

Series Structure

In Alegrus, the Elves are considered the guardians of the kingdom. Inhabitants of the enchanted forest for centuries, that's where these little heroes hide the source of all its magic: their precious Pot of Gold. The pot produces a golden dust that gives temporary magical powers to the small heroes. To do this they simply sprinkle a handful of dust over their heads and say the right magic words. Depending on the magic words, the power will be granted based on one of the vital forces of nature: earth, fire, air, water and light.

The only one who knows, beyond the Elves, the location of the pot is Princess Jasmine. Friend and ally of the little heroes she is the one that she calls the Elves every time her father, King Orlando, falls into the lies of malicious advice of the terrible royal advisor, Count Naldus (which actually is the Evil King disguised by Maldo by a spell), leaving the kingdom at the mercy of another of his plans of conquest. For this, the princess has Athena, his pet owl.

Across the forest, in the Ogral Valley, is the dismal castle of King Maldo. That's where the villain always plan how you want to steal the Golden Pot of the Elves and have the magic just for him, and for this, has the help of his assistants guards: the ogres Tony and Pablo.

Fortunately, the fancy and comic schemes of the evil King / Count are continually frustrated by the Elves. Still, with the help of his inept ogres, the villain is determined to continue to deceive king Orlando to perhaps try to take away the crown at the next opportunity.

Characters

MAIN CHARACTERS

Wise

The most intelligent and studious. He knows every corner, every plant and inhabitant of the forest, able about to map the entire kingdom. Master of potions is extremely meticulous and thorough .. His main hobbies include mania of inventing and complex props and gadgets to help everyone in village affairs and try new potions in his laboratory, that may occasionate explosions. The faithful attendants of King Maldo, the two most hinder rather than help, since they are not very smart, but very clumsy. Even so, always try to please the wizard, even when he, now and then transform them into insects, frogs or the like.

Crow Crow

The Crow Crow is the pet raven King Maldo living doing reconnaissance flights over the forest trying to find the Elves and find out where is the Golden Pot. She also serves as a spy for King Maldo.

Episodes Synopsis

EPISODE 01 PRINCESS'S BIRTHDAY

Twig decides to follow fort in one of his excursions into the rainforest but ends up getting lost along the way. He ends up coming to Alegrus village where everyone is preparing a party for the birthday of Princess Jasmine. Not to be seen by anyone, Twig hides in the middle of a local business which is full of toys and fairy dolls, gnomes and elves. Behold, the Naldus Earl comes to buy a gift for the princess and takes Twig with him, mistaking him for one of the toys. Inside the castle, Twig, pretending to be a doll, listens to the earl conversation in a room next door with one of his ogres through a magic mirror. The villain intends to use an enchanted candle on the birthday cake, which when blown will make everyone in the kingdom fall into an eternal sleep. There remains Twig with a mission to prevent this from happening, with a little help from Athena, the owl. At the end is the Count falling into enchanted sleep and to wake him up, guess who will kiss him? The ogres, of course.

EPISODE 02 - THE AMBUSH

Naldus Earl (which is actually the evil King Maldo in disguise) convinces the King to give a tour of the kingdom to a real inspection. But what the villain intends is to capture the naive monarch, creating an ambush along the way, with the help of his two ogres. During his morning walk in the forest, Forte has just almost bumped into the two ogres who argued among themselves about how to perform the actual kidnapping ordered by his boss, King Maldo. Aware of the terrible plan, he warns the other elves, with the help of the magical powers granted by the Golden dust they frustrate not only one but several ambush attempts throughout the course of the royal party, without the king even realizing what is happening. After the tour, the furious Earl decides to punish his assistants for their failure and ends up caught in a trap left by the ogres, who confuse him with the King.

EPISODE 03 WORDS CHANGED

Joker loves to make fun and joke with the others. But to realize that his old repertoire of jokes no longer freak laughter effect at all, he decides to come up with a new joke: he switches the book of spells for a copy that he wrote himself. Before anyone notices the change, the Elves are summoned by Princess Jasmine to stop another cunning plan Earl Naldus. But when every elf uses the magic dust and say the magic words of the false book, which was to be funny become the main confusion: Forte comes out jumping like crazy, instead of being brawny; Wise shoots fireballs instead of creating rain clouds; Twig inflates and starts floating like a balloon instead of flying simply carried by the wind; Matt creates an earthquake, and so on. Wise soon suspects the guilty of it all and calls Joker's attention. Sorry, he attempts to resolve the whole situation showing where he hid the true Spells book. Finally the elves can help the princess. In the end, after another victory, Joker is writing another book? In fact, Wise put him under punishment. He will have to write a thousand times the following sentence: "I will never again play with the Book of Spells."

EPISODE 04 THE SPY TOADS

Angered that his ogres, which hinder rather than help, King Maldo turns them into swamp toads. As the two await their master to calm down, so he may undo his spell, the two decide to take a walk around the neighborhood. Clumsy, Pablo, hurt one of his toad leg, while Tony heads back to his master's castle for help, Pablo is found by Matt, who is always concerned about animals, decides to take the "poor little frog" to his home to take care of the injured leg. Pablo realizes the opportunity that he has: he finally discover the secret location of the village of the Elves and the Pot of Gold. Pampered to the extreme by Matt, Pablo has his leg treated and in the process, discovers many secrets about the elves. Cured, he flees the village and "jumps" quickly toward Ogral Valley, taking a small handful of the enchanted dust from the Pot of Gold as evidence. When he arrives to the castle of Maldo he tells the villain he discovered the location of the village of elves and Pot of Gold. Maldo does not believe him. Pablo then sets out to prove, pouring a handful of dust that had brought upon himself. But what he did not know was that without the magic words of the book of spells the powder is unpredictable. He starts sneezing and his body is thrown into the air causing it to hit his head on the ceiling and forgets everything he had seen.

EPISODE 05 - A INCIDENTAL CAKE RECIPE

If there is one thing Tummy can not resist is the blackberries cake that Jasmine makes every month to her Elves friends . The problem is that during the preparation of the recipe a handful of golden dust fell within the mass and when the Princess will offer a slice of cake for each elf, Tummy does not hold back and end up eating all himself. In this, Athena, the owl, comes warning that the Earl Naldus is up with another of his plans: using magic beans, launched the castle Alegrus on mid air, in another attempt to take over the kingdom. The Princess and the Elves race to save Alegrus but soon realize that there is something wrong with the poor Tummy. It seems that the mixture of blackberries with magic dust generated a kind of side effect. Tummy starts having sporadic hiccups. In each one, he acquires a different wacky magical kind of power that ends up helping inadvertently the small heroes to save the kingdom. The next day, Jasmine is preparing another blackberry cake as a thank you, and all will serve Tummy a smaller portion, but him, that locked in the bathroom, suffers the last side effect: one hell of a stomach ache.

EPISODE 06 WHERE THE MAGIC POWDER?

One day, a disaster without proportions happens in the village of the Elves: the Golden Pot was almost empty. There was only a single handful of dust in it. The Elves desperate ran to the Wise to know what happened. Wise soon explains that lately they've been spending too much dust and it will take time for the Golden Pot to reset everything. To make matters worse, Athena, the owl, arrives with the news that the King Maldo is up at it again: the villain created a potion that multiplied his two assistants ogres in an army to invade the castle, where Maldo, disguised as Earl would open the gates "unintentionally". It is up to the Elves to stop the ogres using only their personal skills and learn to ration wisely the last handful of dust left. Meanwhile, Princess Jasmine tries to curl the count so that he can not open the gates of the castle. The effort is worth it, the plan is frustrated. King Maldo is left to have to put up with not just two, but an ogre battalion hampered in his castle until the passing of the multiplier effect of the potion.

EPISODE 07 SAVE THE ENCHANTED FOREST

Angered by every time the Elves disrupted their plans of conquest, King Maldo decides to take revenge of the little heroes. Disguised as Earl Naldus, the villain convinces the King to deforest the enchanted forest with the excuse that the village kingdom has no more room to expand, but what the villain really wants is to destroy the secret Elf village and, who knows, finally find the dreamed Pot of Gold. Upon hearing the news, Princess Jasmine warns her Elves friends to prepare a defense plan. While Forte, Joke, Mane, Tummy and Twig try to delay the loggers using their magical powers, Jasmine and Wise try to show to the King, the importance of the forest to the kingdom. When the King asks his daughter about how she could arrange more space to dwell villagers, Wise comes up with a solution: Alegrus is the first kingdom of fairy tales to have a set of apartments at a giant beanstalk.

EPISODE 08 - THE DRAGON'S EGG

In one of his tours through the forest, Forte sees King Maldo and his sneaking ogres in the woods looking for something. He follows them to a cave which, according to the Wise's map is prohibited. He discovers that Maldo is after the nest of a dragon to catch an egg and hatch it. So he wants to create the puppy to be able to control it and use it to help the villain to rule the kingdom. Forte decides to disrupt the wizard's plan and can reach the nest first. He takes the egg to the village of the Elves and tells how he frustrated the plans of King Maldo. But the egg hatches and little dragon is born a who thinks Forte his mother. Because it is still very small, the puppy can not control his flames right and ends up putting the town at risk, but not before scorching someone. Wise complains out at Forte and sends him to take the puppy back to the cave before something worse happens. With the help of the Elves, Forte tries to take the little dragon back, but not without having to dodge Maldo and his ogres and face a furious mother dragon at the disappearance of her baby.

EPISODE 09 A MYSTICAL STONE

The King Maldo creates a new plan to conquer Alegrus. He replaces one of the real crown jewels by a mystical stone. Once the King puts the crown on his head he becomes under the control of the villain, now disguised as Earl Naldus. Jasmine notes that the father is acting strangely and asks for help of the Elves. But not before being placed captive in the highest tower of the castle by order of his father, controlled by Earl Naldus. Once the Elves arrive at the castle, Wise soon identifies the mystical jewel in the crown. He divides the Elves into two groups: one to release the princess from the tower and another to take the stone from the crown. Using their magical powers, the little heroes manage to free the princess and the king.

But the King remembers that it was Naldus who advised him to put his daughter into punishment. Even arguing that he was only following the orders of the monarch, the Earl is sentenced to be arrested a whole week in the same tower of the castle.

EPISODE 10 WHO IS THE FAVORITE ELF?

If you have someone that all Elves are totally in love, without exception, is Princess Jasmine. Each time she visits the village or help save the kingdom, the Elves fight among themselves for the attention of the beautiful Princess. Each one feels like the princess loves him more than the other. And that feeling has led to an intense rivalry between all of them, as to create a lot of fighting and confusion. Willing to resolve it, they decide to promote a contest for the the day of the princess's birthday so Jasmine could finally choose heryour favorite Elf. For this, each one will have to give a gift that would impress her in order to facilitate her decision. Matt decides to hunt a rare butterfly to give as a gift, Forte decides to paint a picture for her even if not being very talented or having patience for it, Wise wants to invent a new perfume with rare fragrance even if it explodes his lab and Joker decides to write a beautiful poem without knowing how to rhyme the right words. The problem is that Twig decides to go to the dangerous Crystal Mountain to harvest a rare Ice Flower. When they discover this, the other elves rush to save him, but they need to put aside their rivalries. In the Princess's birthday, Jasmine is surprised by so many gifts and decides which one she likes best to win. Who will be the winner?

EPISODE 11 THE RAINBOW MACHINE

Everyone knows, including the King Maldo, that the only clue that there is to find the legendary Elves's Pot of Gold is that it is always found at the rainbow's end. The problem is that every time someone and, in particular, the villain, tries to follow a rainbow to the end, this disappears quickly not giving time to find the exact location of where the pot is. Therefore, King Maldo decides to create a machine that generates a rainbow that will last the time needed for this. When the Elves see that a new rainbow does not disappear soon, they realize that this secret is threatening and decide to discover where this strange phenomenon comes from. The question is: who will first get to one of the rainbow's ends? King Maldo and his ogres, thus discovering where the Pot of Gold is, or the Elves, finding the villain's machine and destroying it in time to protect their precious pot? After crossing eachother along the way and part of them delaying the villain and his helpers, Wise, changes the machine and redirects the Rainbow for a place that will take the villain far , far away.

EPISODE 12 - WHICH KING AM I?

After many unsuccessful attempts to conquer the kingdom of Alegrus, the evil King Maldo makes up his craziest plan. Since he can not rule Alegrus as King Maldo, why not govern it as King Orlando I? Using an old enchantment, the villain changes his mind with the kindly monarch who suddenly finds himself lost in the woods in the body of the villain. While Maldo, now in the body of the King Orlando, rules freely in the Alegrus kingdom, Orlando is found by Elves who attack him thinking he was the villain. After the monarch can convince them of his real identity, the little heroes decide to help him retake the throne and unchange their minds. But to try, they are resisted even by Jasmine that at first did not realize the mind change. Using his magical powers, the Elves take the king to the castle of King Maldo where after they fool the ogres, discover what was the spell used by the villain and break the spell. Frustrated, the villain is left to discharge his anger in the poor ogres transforming them into two lizards.

EPISODE 13 - THE BABY ELF

The King Maldo strikes again. This time makes a dam on the river that supplies the kingdom of Alegrus and the Enchanted Forest leaving everyone without water. Disguised as Earl he tries to convince the king to hand over the kingdom to his other identity, in exchange for water. Meanwhile, something strange happens to the Pot of Gold in the Elf village. It begins to shine more and more and the Elves run to the Wise to ask what is happening. He then discovers in his old books that in every hundred years, the magic of Pot calls forth a new elf. When the little one is born what appeared to be the happiness of all, soon becomes a nightmare. Baby, as the baby is called, gives more work than any elf can imagine.

Each time the little elf cry a river of tears flooding the village houses.

Desperate the Elves decide to ask for the help of Princess Jasmine.

But when they meet her and find out what the evil King Maldo did, they have an idea: just put the Baby elf crying to fill the river again.

The problem is that the little one loved Jasmine and just wanted to laugh all day.

Serie's Rules

It is forbidden to use technological and contemporary elements. The machines or gadgets should have a medieval aspect, being built with wood, iron, or cloth.

Although King Maldo lives, in fact, in his gloomy castle in the Ogre Valley where he architects his fancy plans of conquest, he is able to go up and stay at the Alegrus Castle thanks to his cover of spell.

The King always relies entirely on the Count not suspicious of his intentions and therefore never listen and believe in the warnings of his daughter about the villain.

Although the princess knows that the Count is not reliable, she doesn't not know he is actually the evil King Maldo and can never find his identity or gather evidence of his guilt to present to her father, King Orlando.

Although the Pot of gold's location is at the Rainbow's end, no one ever managed to find the place without the rainbow disappearing first. The only exception was Princess Jasmine.

Magic Powers

The power that the gold dust gives each Elf will depend on the magic words spoken by them .

The powers will be based on the vital forces of nature: earth, fire, air, water and light.

In day-to-day life, the Elves make use of their magical powers for everyday tasks such as, for example, create a rain cloud to water the plants and vegetables, generate a fireball to light a campfire or fireplace, or even levitate rocks and extremely heavy boulders.

The elf who knows most spells is the Wise, but even he has not yet learned all the magic words written in the ancient Book of Spells.

Sometimes, an elf can say a wrong word and get an unexpected power.

The pronunciation of the magic words have a hint of Latin, as in the Harry Potter series. For example: "Petra, levitatis in above" (Stone climb up)

Geography of the Kingdom

OGRE VALLEY - Located north of the kingdom, was already home to a race of ogres that threatened Alegrus in the past. Composed of swamps and marshes, today is only inhabited by the evil King Maldo and his two assistants ogres, except when the wizard uses his disguise of spell and strolls through Alegrus castle freely as the malicious royal advisor, Count Naldus.

ALEGRUS CASTLE - Located on the highest hill in the center of the kingdom is the royal residence of King Orlando I and his daughter, Princess Jasmine. Of its towers and walls one can see the village and the enchanted forest.

CRYSTAL MOUNTAINS
It is the highest point of the whole kingdom. There are many legends about the secrets that these ice mountains keep in their caves.

LAGO DOS ENCANTOS
Localizado ao sul do reino, muitos dizem que há uma sereia que habita suas águas.

ZIG ZAG RIVER - Passes through the whole kingdom supplying it with water, and as its name indicates, zig-zags through valleys, hills and the enchanted forest. Its source is in the pristine mountains.

ALEGRUS VILLAGE
At the base of the king's castle hill, consists of homes and huts of the inhabitants and subjects of the kingdom.

ENCHANTED FOREST - Home of the Elves. The vegetation protects the location of the Pot of Gold.
